HOST COUNTRY FORMALITIES

Visa

NON-UE students wishing to study in Romania need to have a valid passport at least six months longer than the expiry date of the student visa. Before travel you will need to obtain student visa from a Romanian Embassy/Consulate in your home country. As visa regulations may change, please contact the nearest Romanian Embassy or Consulate in your country for the most up-to-date and detailed information. Student visas cannot be obtained within Romania.

For more visa information, please visit Ministry of Foreign Affairs official website:

<http://igi.mai.gov.ro/en/content/studies>

How long is a student visa valid?

Although a time limit will be stamped on your visa, the student visa will be valid as long as you are enrolled in the school.

What is residence Permit?

If you have a valid visa, you do not need a Residence Permit up to 90 days.

If you are staying in Romania more than 90 days you will need a Residence Permit, regardless of status (UE, NON-UE).

Erasmus Office will help you with this process and prepare all the documents that you need to obtain it.

All students must register within one month after entering Romania. However, sometimes students cannot complete all the procedures required within that month. If you don't take your residence permit before the deadline, you will be in a fugitive position in Romania. In this context, you may be deported and be obligated to pay a fine.

How long is the Residence Permit valid and how are they extended?

Students enrolled in an exchange program at DJUG are usually given residence permits that are valid for the exchange period as indicated in the invitation letter. If the Student Visa is valid for six months, then the residence permit will be for 6 months. Such students can extend their residence permit if they extend their enrolment at DJUG. Extension requires the same procedures as applying for a new residence permit with one exception, a tax of ~256 Ron (~50 Euro).

In case of lost passport and/or residence permit

If you lose your passport while in Romania you must report it to your country's Embassy/Consulate in Romania (they are mainly situated in Bucharest). They will issue you an emergency passport. If you lose your residence permit, you must first report this to the closest police station at the place of the incident. (Please do not forget to get a copy of the report that the police holds about this incident). You then need to report this to the Erasmus Office at DJUG. The office will provide you another document for the application of a new residence permit.

Change in address

If you change the address that you initially gave to the Erasmus Office, you must inform the Immigration Office and the Erasmus Office about this change within 2 days (48 hours).

Our dormitories are rather suitable for comfortable accommodation and study purposes.

The price for person is approximately 85 Euros/month including facilities.

The student dorm is having a 24h reception.

For further information please visit:

<http://www.en.ugal.ro/cercetare/djug-campus>

If you do not wish to stay in the dormitory you may ask the Erasmus staff for assistance to learn about other options to stay on or close to the campus. You may also rent flats for approximately 200 Euros/month, without facilities. The easiest way to find a flat is to do some research on the internet or knock the door of a real estate agency in your neighborhood. When you rent a flat via agency, you should prepare to discard one-month rent as an agency cut. Besides, you should take into consideration paying a deposit whether you are renting the flat directly or through an agency.

The amount of deposit is equal to approximately one-month rent. However, at the end of the tenancy contract, if you hand in the flat in good condition, the deposit you paid will be given back to you.

FOOD

In Romania

Romanian cuisine is a diverse blend of different dishes from several traditions with which it has come into contact, but it also maintains its own character. It has been mainly influenced by a series of European cuisines such as the Austrian cuisine, German cuisine, Greek cuisine, or Hungarian cuisine, yet it also includes culinary elements stemming from the cuisines of the Slavic-speaking countries of Eastern and Central Europe, most notably Serbian and Bulgarian as well as Polish, Ukrainian, and Russian.

There are quite a few different types of dishes, which are sometimes included under a generic term; for example, the category ciorba includes a wide range of soups with a characteristic sour taste. These may be meat and vegetable soups, tripe (ciorba de burta) and calf foot soups, or fish soups, all of which are soured by lemon juice, sauerkraut juice, vinegar, or bors (traditionally made from bran). The category tuica (plum brandy) is a name for a strong alcoholic spirit in Romania.

Most commercial establishments accept international credit cards, such as Visa, Master Card and American Express.

HISTORY OF GALATI

Ancient origins

Archeological evidence points to occupation of the region in the neolithic period. For example, north west of the town of Galati, on the eastern shores of the Malina marshes, fragments of ceramic-type Stoicani Aldeni, stilex and tools made of bone have been found. A stone sceptre, from the late Bronze Age, belonging to the Coslogeni culture was found on the marshes' southern bank.

Galati town itself developed from an ancient Dacian settlement of the sixth and fifth centuries BCE where there was a ford across the Danube river. In 101 to 102 and 105 to 106, the Dacians fought wars against the Romans and the area became part of the Roman empire. A strong Roman fortress was built at Barbosi to defend the ford across Danube. From the 300s a Daco-Roman settlement developed at a ford south of the site of the Church of the Virgin.

Medieval period

There is evidence of continuous inhabitation of Galati since the 600s. A treasure hoard consisting of 12 silver coins issued between 613 and 685 was found in a Byzantine tomb near the Church of the Virgin. Western and Byzantine coins from the time of Emperor Mihail IV Paflagonianul (1034–1041) were also found.

At one time, the city became part of the Republic of Genoa Territories and was called "Caladda". In 1445, a document signed by Lord of Moldavia Stefan II mentions Galati. In 1484, Chilia was conquered by Ottomans. Galati township remained Moldova's only port, not only for domestic trade but also for trade with Turkey and Poland. In 1590, the Galati Jewish cemetery was opened.

Visiting Romania and Galati while you study will give you the opportunity to comprehend Romania's cultural and historical richness.
